Hearing Buddy – clinician quick reference

A free, on-device live-captioning app for iPhone – an Apple Design Award finalist in Inclusivity – built by Lilly Seay, who lives with hearing loss. It complements the care you provide: recommend it the way you'd recommend communication strategies, for the moments between appointments.

WHEN TO RECOMMEND IT

- "They help, but I still miss things in noise" – restaurants, group settings
- Family gatherings – Buddy Mode captions several iPhones in the same room, free
- Patients who miss their name or questions – Apple Watch taps them when it matters
- New or waitlisted patients who need help today
- Multilingual families – live translation into 10 languages, on the device

THE 60-SECOND DEMO

- Open Hearing Buddy, tap the mic – captions start immediately
- Speak from across the room; show text size adjustment
- Turn on Airplane Mode and keep talking – captions continue, offline
- Point out: no account was ever created, nothing was uploaded

WHAT'S FREE VS. PAID

- Captions: free, unlimited, forever – no account, no meter
- Buddy Mode group captions and transcript history: free
- Buddy+ ($59.99/yr, optional): Watch name & question alerts, conversation summaries, Speaker Labels, solo translation

WHAT TO TELL PATIENTS HONESTLY

- Needs a reasonably recent iPhone (iOS 26 or later)
- Can't caption phone calls – pair it with a captioned-call service
- It's an assistive tool, not a medical device or hearing-aid substitute
